Maurine McCormick Named To Write For Teen Magazine

Miss Maurine McCormick, 16, of Spout Spring, has been named Co-ed correspondent for this school year, according to an announcement by Margaret Hauser, editor of Co-ed magazine. Miss McCormick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McCormick, is in the 10th grade at Appomattox High School. Her appointment was made by Mrs. Madeline Thomas, home economics teacher, at Appomattox High.

Selected for her qualities of leadership and her enthusiasm for home economics, Miss McCormick will serve as junior advisor to the editors of Co-ed, national magazine for teen-age girls, and will keep them informed of activities at Appomattox High School. There are more than 3,000 Co-ed correspondents throughout the United States and Canada.

Presentation of a special Co-ed pin and card has been made to Miss McCormick.

Mrs. DeWitt, of Monroe, is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Moon.

Reader Will Be 90 Years Old January 26

R. A. Glenn, for many years a resident of Appomattox, now living at 179 Fairfield Ave., Stamford, Connecticut, writes of snow up north.

He has sent a "thank you" for cards and pictures which remind him of "good friends at home."

Mr. Glenn adds that "the mail man says that everybody down there must be my friend from the number of letters and cards I get, and I love everyone."

"The doctor tells me I can't be alone, and I paid him $10.00 to tell me that, so I better do as he says. The doctor asked my age, and I told him that the last of January I would be 90. He thought I was joking, but Bill (Bill Slice) oked it, so he believed me then."

River." You cross it now between Orange and Culpeper. One winter I will never forget, 1917, I think. The thermometer at Locust Dale sank to twenty (20) below zero. snow drifted to five feet. My Buddy and I had a rare experience. We went to school for an entire session and we were the ONLY pupils! Ah yes, Our parents arranged for a "tutor". I walked the first mile alone, through a short-cut in deep woods, and then met my Buddy and we walked the second mile together to our classmansion, where Edward V. Lightfoot was our instructor. There we learned the basic Three R's and grew to almost worship our tutor, who rushed off to volunteer at the beginning of World War I and died of pneumonia after action in the Baltic Sea. That is another story. Today, I am writing about My Buddy. Our paths parted and I never saw him again. I went on to Culpeper, Portsmouth, the Eastern Shore and to Appomattox. Often, while driving to Culpeper or Washington, I resolved to stop by and look up my friend . . . Lester Hill. Somehow I never did. And then today I sat down and read the daily paper. What's the news? Surely the last moments of life for the greatest individual of the Twentieth Century, the incomparable Sir Winston Churchill. What's the news? The glamour and pageantry of Wednesday's Inauguration of America's Apostle of Peace? The Great Society. Ah Yes. But, for your humble writer, the item that was closest to me was a short piece on an inside page, dated from Locust Dale, Va. It said that funeral services would be held Tuesday for my friend of long ago. Why do I take this much space to record this? Because, now I am so sorry that I failed to "keep in touch" — and perhaps it may serve to remind us not to forget or neglect old friendships, and ought we not to resolve never to forget to remember. There may come a day when it is too late.

Do You Know Any Civil War Songs ?

If you know any songs of the Southland sung or composed during the time of the War Between the States, the Appomattox Civic Chorus would like to know about them.

Director Thomas A. Waddill is looking up song histories now in preparation for a concert by the Chorus in May. Singers plan to wear costumes of the period to make it a special event of the Appomattox Centennial.
